

About Alliance Integrated Technology

Alliance Integrated Technology offers IT infrastructure design, consulting and deployment. With a broad offering of high density and high-performance storage and compute clusters coupled with the network backbone required to keep up with the demands, we can bring an end-to-end solution to solve the most complex compute and storage challenges.

Everything we do—every single solution we design—is based on each customer's specific needs. We do not provide a “one size fits all” approach. In technology, each situation is unique and requires a custom solution. We solve the most difficult technology problems, often when no one else has the skills, connections, experience, knowledge, or products.
